Isolation housing curbs the spread of infection on campus.

Sodexo safely provides meals to those in quarantine and ensures that isolation areas are thoroughly cleaned and disinfected.

ISOLATION HOUSING

If a student or faculty member is required to quarantine due to COVID-19, they must temporarily reside in a designated area on campus to safeguard the health and well-being of the entire campus community. Leveraging insights from our global university and healthcare operations, Sodexo has developed a program for establishing, maintaining and serving isolation housing facilities.

We begin by working with university leaders to identify an appropriate area for isolation housing on campus. Extensive safety training is available for both Sodexo and campus employees. Sodexo’s vast supplier network and procurement capabilities ensure ample availability of personal protective equipment for employees working in isolation housing.

The onsite team carefully cleans and disinfects common areas and guest rooms using strict, scientifically proven procedures for infection control. Meal delivery service enhances guests’ comfort and safety. Sodexo’s commitment to improving quality of life, even in the face of challenges, extends the student experience to isolation housing and demonstrates care for guests’ health and well-being.
Caring for Students When They Need It Most

An illness, especially one as high-profile and dangerous as COVID-19, can be a scary experience. In addition to physical discomfort, contracting COVID-19 creates feelings of anxiety and loneliness as students isolate themselves to protect those around them.

Sodexo ensures that students in isolation on campus are cared for in a safe, clean, comfortable environment. Daily cleaning and meal service help students feel less alone and offer them comfort in a difficult time.

Meal Delivery
Onsite teams will deliver fresh, nutritious meals and snacks to students in isolation rooms.

Cleaning
Staff will frequently clean and disinfect common areas and isolation rooms to ensure safety and minimize the risk of spreading the infection.

Safety and Comfort
Safety is the top priority. Every employee will be fully outfitted with personal protective equipment and thoroughly trained in scientific disinfection processes and safety protocols.

Isolation housing services support positive campus experiences, even in difficult times.
