

Share Information to Provide Reassurance

Strong communication protects the health and wellbeing of your residents, staff and visitors. Keeping teams up to date with current and accurate information and best practices regarding physical distancing, infection prevention and personal care is vital to ensuring safe communities and a strong workforce.

Sodexo can help you leverage the reach of your existing organizational communication channels to stay in touch with the residents and families you count on most. Our experts will support you with educational and awareness content to deploy across your digital and physical channels.

Building health and wellbeing awareness to encourage active and safe lives

Let your residents and staff know how they can help protect each other.

In times of uncertainty, frequent and honest communication can provide comfort and cooperation.

Meet Your Residents Wherever They Are

Communicating via the channels your residents, families and staff use most frequently ensures everyone gets the updates and information they need to stay safe, healthy and productive.

Digital Apps

- Create engaging & educational campaigns
- Share community news, updates, and more

LCD Screens & Posters

- Use your physical spaces as communication platforms
- Display useful and entertaining videos and posters to provide instruction, information and inspiration to your residents and staff
- Create signage to share new processes and guidelines for community spaces and daily activities

Email & Printed Mailers

- Provide timely updates and information
- Personalize content and delivery method for targeted teams and individuals
- Proactively request responses to gather data and inform continuous program improvement
